

ADENANTHOS

'SILVER LINING'

STRIKING NATIVE GROUNDCOVER

Fine, silvery grey foliage that is soft to the touch, is a hallmark trait of the Adenanthos. This particular variety, Adenanthos 'Silver Lining' is an iconic Australian native ground cover and a versatile low growing choice to highlight other bold coloured plants in the garden. 'Silver Lining' is a low water user, thriving in dry conditions and coastal zones.

AUSTRALIAN NATIVE

FULL SUN

DRY TOLERANT

GROUND COVER

HEIGHT 40CM
SPREAD 1.5M

FEATURES

- Foliage accent - silvery tones are a great colour
- Attractive native ground cover, with compact spreading form
- Fine, silvery grey foliage
- Soft appearance and soft to the touch
- Well suited to dry conditions

USES

- Excellent native ground cover
- Hardy performer in coastal habitats

CARE

Very low maintenance. Plant in a full sun location with good airflow and a well drained soil.

Very low water requirements once established. Prefers dry summer rather than a humid climate.

ORIGIN: South Australia // SPECIES: Sericeus // PROTECTION STATUS: PBR protectable